SPECIALISTS IN THERMAL IMAGING & INFRARED TECHNOLOGY

Thermascan Ltd is one of the UK's largest independent specialists in thermal imaging and infrared technology and all its applications.

WHAT WE DO

With over 30 years of combined experience, our expert team of level 2 thermographers is here to provide you and your business with impartial advice and impeccable service. The new generation thermal imaging cameras are compact, loaded with comprehensive, easy to use software and are available at a wide range of prices, bringing them within easy reach of most tool boxes.

So, whether you are looking to buy or hire, we will supply the best product on the market for the job, at the most cost-effective price, with on-going support and training as required. We also provide a wide range of services, carried out by our full trained and experience engineers.

OUR SERVICES

We have a team of Level 2 certified engineers who can conduct surveys and inspections as part of essential building and equipment maintenance.

Thermal imaging can be used for:

- Building surveys and BREEAMS
- Electrical surveys
- Mechanical surveys
- Plumbing surveys

Other services our cameras could be used for include:

- Medical and veterinary purposes, including equine diagnostics
- Security and surveillance
- Film and television production

“

By making the invisible visible, thermal imaging cameras are the perfect tool for spotting faults before they become a problem.

CAMERA HIRE & SALES

Hiring thermal imaging equipment is often the most cost-effective solution, if you only use it once a year or for one off special projects.

For a minimum of 3 days, our hire service can provide you with:

- Infrared cameras
- Laptops
- Lenses
- Software and accessories

For those looking to buy equipment, we also supply a range of infrared cameras and accessories to suit all budgets and we regularly update our stock to ensure that we are providing the most up to date technologies for all our customers.

TRAINING

As an Inframation ITC accredited training centre and members of UKTA and BINDT we provide FLIR ITC training courses. Under our guidance, you will become an effective, proficient and certified thermographer.

CALIBRATION

Keeping your thermal cameras calibrated is essential in ensuring that it stays accurate. We provide a fast and efficient calibration service at extremely competitive prices.
